

THE SENATE

for 12:45 o'clock this afternoon. The motion carried the proviso that the general appropriation bill, which is a special and continuing order for 12:30 o'clock to-day, shall have priority. The motion to make the same bill a special order was opposed by Senator West, who asked the Senate not to permit a "vicious and unprincipled measure" like the game bill to sidetrack the more important bills that await consideration. He hoped that the present Senate would not repeat the folly of the last Senate, which, during the session of 1912, he said, made itself ridiculous by devoting three days to a debate on a bill designed to protect robbers.

Pass by Fee Bill. Over the protest of Senator West, the Senate passed by the consideration of his bill regulating the salaries of county and city fee officers, popularly known as the "antifire bill." The action was taken upon the motion of Senator Hart, who said that several Senators, who as members of the Committee on Finance and Administration, were in Newport News on State business, desired an opportunity to offer amendments.

Senator Drewry offered a motion discharging the Finance Committee from further consideration of his bill, which seeks to minimize the public paying abuse by requiring a fortnightly posting of the names of those who have paid their capitation taxes within the preceding two weeks. The bill, he said, has been with the committee for a month, and he believed the motion to discharge the committee was lost by a vote of 15 to 16.

House Bills Passed. The following bills were passed: House bill No. 25, amending and reenacting section 3211 of the Code, as amended by an act approved March 14, 1912.

House bill No. 9, further amending an act passed March 12, 1912, amending the divorce practice of the State.

House bill No. 24, amending section 274 of the Code, relating to profane swearing and drunkenness.

House bill No. 37, authorizing the State Corporation Commission, when public transportation companies, when public lines cross at grade or where the rights of way of such companies are adjacent to each other, and provide proper facilities for the interchange of carload shipments and to perform all necessary duties in connection with the same.

House bill No. 49, amending the act consolidating into one act certain laws relating to the State Corporation Commission and other shell fish, approved March 1, 1910.

House bill No. 77, relating to the bonds and oaths of executors and administrators, amending sections 2628 and 2640 of the Code of Virginia.

Here and There in the Legislature

The Senate Committee on Public Institutions and Education voted yesterday afternoon to report favorably the bill introduced by Senators West and Walker, authorizing the State Female Normal School at Farmville to change its name to the "State Female Normal College for Women," and empowering its board of trustees to include in the curriculum a four-year college course of standard grade, which shall be both cultural and vocational.

The bill was given a public hearing two weeks ago, when President Jarman, of the Farmville Normal School, and other educators appeared in its support. Under the provisions of the bill, the board of trustees is given authority to grant diplomas to graduates in its course of normal study, and to confer degrees in the college courses, subject to the approval of the State Board of Education.

The Senate Committee on Public Institutions and Education reported favorably yesterday afternoon a bill creating the Central State Colony for the Feeble-Minded, to be located on the land of the Central State Hospital, near the city of Petersburg. The measure was introduced by Senators Drewry, Walker and Massie.

The bill reported favorably by the House Committee on Asylums and Prisons in relation to the future conduct of the Virginia Home and Industrial School for Girls in Chesterfield County, came from the printer yesterday and took its place on the House calendar as Senate bill No. 252. The preamble sets forth that the institution was created under the laws of this State for the custody, care and training of vicious and incorrigible white girls between the ages of twelve and eighteen; that the General Assembly has at two sessions made appropriations for the maintenance of the home, and a per diem allowance of 50 cents per day for each inmate, there have been created from State funds an additional building and water supply system, representing a State outlay of $13,000; that if it is necessary to maintain a home for the purpose of the commitment of vicious and incorrigible white girls to jail, and that it is deemed advisable that such an institution should be under State control, operation and management, the corporate authorities of the home having expressed a willingness to convey to the State all of the property, consisting of 206 acres of land in Chesterfield County with improvements thereon, if the State will take the home and conduct it in accordance with the purpose of the charter.

In view of these facts set forth in the preamble, the bill provides that on approval of the title to the real estate by the Attorney-General, and the conveyance of the property by a proper deed that the State take possession and control of the home and conduct it for the purposes set forth in the charter, and thereafter operate and maintain it as a State institution.

Current indebtedness of the institution not to exceed $1,000 on March 1, 1914, is to be assumed by the State on their taking over the property. On the State assuming control of the home it is to be governed by a board of directors of not less than five members, to be appointed by the Governor, and confirmed by the Senate, whose terms of office shall conform to the terms of directors for the State hospitals for the insane.

Nothing in the act is to be construed as preventing the sale of the property and change of the location of the home, provided the State shall maintain the home until the sale of the property, and that the proceeds of such sale shall be reinvested in a home for the purposes set forth in the charter. The Governor and board of directors are specifically authorized to make such sale and location of the home elsewhere "if in their judgment the same shall be deemed advisable." The act carries an emergency clause to take effect from its passage.

Mr. Gordon offered yesterday a bill providing for a new tax commission to study the whole subject of taxation. He asked that it be referred to the Committee for Courts of Justice.

"Why shouldn't it go to the Finance Committee?" asked Chairman Weaver. Mr. Gordon replied that the Finance Committee had already made a report recommending a legislative committee of twenty members. On the assurance that he would be given a hearing to-day, Mr. Gordon consented to have his resolution referred to the Finance Committee.

Hugh A. White and Judge Martin Williams, who have lined up as opponents on most of the measures which have come before the House, appear as joint patrons on a bill offered yesterday to provide for the election of United States Senators by the people. In accordance with the seventeenth amendment to the Federal Constitution, the bill was drawn by Attorney-General Holtzcliff, and provides for an election on the date of the next succeeding general election, and may make a temporary appointment to fill a vacancy until filled at such election.

If You Are a Banker

the fact that the National City Bank of New York owns and uses daily the new Encyclopaedia Britannica is of significance for you. There must be a good business reason for it.

The bank's librarian says: "It is perfectly wonderful how much the book is consulted."

Joseph T. Talbot, Vice-President of this great business institution, writes: "No scholar, teacher, writer or student should be without it; no man of business, nor of any learned or technical profession, can afford to do without it."

Bankers, in fact, find the Britannica a good investment as a mine of practical information by experts, in their own field. It contains, for instance, articles by financial authorities, such as:

Banks and Banking

by Charles A. Conant, former treasurer of the Morton Trust Co., author of "The Principles of Money and Banking," etc., and Sir R. H. I. Palgrave, director of Barclay & Co., Ltd., Bankers.

by Jeremiah W. Jenks, former professor of Political Economy, Cornell, and author of "The Trust Problem, 1903."

by Wynyard Hooper, financial editor of The Times, London (with sections on Movements of Prices, Cycles, Disturbance of Equilibrium, Future Delivery, Corners, Foreign Loans, etc.).

But the banker, and every other business man, finds this efficiency library of daily service to him in supplying equally authoritative information outside of the special knowledge relating to his own business. There are more than 800 articles relating to Banking and Finance, but there are no less than 39,000 articles on other subjects. The 500,000 index entries to the 44,000,000 words the book contains give instantaneous guidance to expert treatment of every kind of thing that can reasonably prompt a question, demand explanation, or yield interesting or useful information. The New

Encyclopaedia Britannica

Whether you are a banker or a bank clerk, or neither, a man or woman in any walk of life, whether you use the Britannica as a question answerer or for continuous reading, you cannot, in this day of specialization, escape the need for the specialist's knowledge which this one book yields. It deals with the common, everyday knowledge you require in your business and your home, as fully and as faithfully as with modern science, art, literature, religion and history.

The reasonable price of the book and the convenient plan of paying for it in small monthly payments have placed this great efficiency library in the hands of thousands of subscribers with incomes of the most modest size.

way to an adjustment, and will soon be eliminated as a bone of contention, and called attention to what a "grand and glorious Commonwealth" the United States would make, with the old areas restored." The Secretary of the Commonwealth is directed to communicate the resolution to the next regular session of the Legislature of West Virginia. If the suggestion of the resolution meets with a favor of the West Virginia authorities, the Governor of Virginia is authorized to name three high commissioners to take up and consider the matter with the representatives of West Virginia.

The "House of Pages" has tackled the rolling stock question, with which the General Assembly has been wrestling for several sessions without as yet enacting any law that would stand the tests of the courts. A few days ago Delegate Reed, of Portsmouth, offered a substitute bill segregating the rolling stock taxes and stated that under his plan every county in the State but two would gain in revenue while the total amount to be paid by the railroads for this class of tax would be less than at present.

Page Richard Stephenson has been trying to work that problem out by all the rules of arithmetic, and has been unable to arrive at any answer by which the railroads pay less and yet the counties receive more. In the "House of Pages" yesterday Page Stephenson offered a bill "to define 'juggling,' which reads:

"Be it enacted by the pages of the General Assembly of Virginia, that juggling, so far as the House is concerned, shall be defined to mean the manipulation of figures so as to show that all the counties of the State of Virginia, except two, will be benefited by the adoption of Delegate Reed's bill with reference to rolling stock."

Election of police justices by the people, considered by some as a sort of preliminary step toward the election of judges by the people, is proposed in a bill offered in the House yesterday by Delegate Price, of Petersburg. It applies to cities containing not less than 10,000 nor more than 45,000 inhabitants. The bill abolishes the present office of police justice in cities and places the election in the hands of the qualified voters. The civil and police justices will have jurisdiction in any claim amounting to $300 or less. The cities affected are Roanoke, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Portsmouth News, Petersburg, Portsmouth and Alexandria.

UNCONSCIOUS IN STREET

At First Supposed That Railroad Fireman Had Fractured Skull.

A man who gave his name as John Nash, of Raleigh, and said he was a railroad fireman, was found yesterday morning lying on the pavement at Eighteenth and Franklin Streets in an unconscious condition. He was taken to the First Police Station by a patrolman, and later removed to the City Hospital by Dr. Robert Whitehead, ambulance surgeon. It was at first thought that his skull was fractured, but that his skull was not fractured, but he had broken his nose in a fall and was slightly dazed and injured. The bill was not regarded as serious, as was at first supposed.

MAN FROZEN TO DEATH

Robert Wells Found Dead at His Home on Hungry Road Near Laurel.

In a room of a house on the Hungry Road, about a mile from Laurel, where he made his home, Robert Wells, 60 years old, was found frozen to death yesterday morning. An empty whiskey flask was lying near him, and it was assumed that he fell asleep while drunk and was not roused by the intense cold. He was alone in the room.

Dr. J. Palmer Bright, corner of Henrico County, cleared the body of Robert Wells, an inquest would be unnecessary. The body will be buried by the county.

Wells was employed as a farm hand by John Cross.

Auto Hits Buggy.

An automobile driven by W. Goldmeyer, employed by the Hokeo Automatic Company, last night at 6:15 o'clock, struck a buggy owned by J. E. Eubank at Adams and Clay Streets. The buggy was broken and an axle bent. No one was hurt.

Senator Kessel Here.

Former State Senator George B. Kessel, of Rockingham County, who was yesterday appointed by Governor Stuart a member of the State Commission of Fisheries, will be here for several days.

Father Edward Ill.

Father Edward, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, is seriously ill at St. Agnes' Hospital, Baltimore, and his friends are much alarmed at his condition. He is suffering from a complication of diseases, and Edward was badly hurt when he fell in the street here last fall.

Testify About Radium Lands.

Washington, February 17.—Testifying to-day before the Senate Mines Committee, W. L. Cummings, of Placerville, Cal., declared monopolization of radium lands an impossible feat because of the great extent of the mineral zone. He said his own properties had been idle for many months because he had been unable to locate them profitably.

A letter from George J. Jordan, of Durango, Col., and a telegram from David Taylor, of Salt Lake, Utah, urged the need of Federal intervention to prevent the formation of a radium monopoly. Jordan said the disappearance of all but one or two buyers of ore from the Colorado lands indicated that a monopoly already was forming.

Senator Shafer told the committee that Governor Spry, of Utah, now in Washington, might ask to be heard.

CHARLES B. LASH DIES OF INJURIES

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Norfolk, Va., February 17.—Struck by an automobile driven by a man named Lash, proprietor of the Portsmouth Bottling Works, and one of the best known men in this section, died to-day in a hospital. The accident occurred last night.

The automobile was driven by Charles C. Chesbire, nineteen years old, was speeding on Court Street, and near the intersection of High Street it struck Lash. He was picked up on the bonnet of the machine and carried to a hospital.

He is survived by one brother and one sister, Mrs. Lash and a half-brother, Mr. James P. Lash and Mrs. L. C. White, of Norfolk.
